Foreign Minister Mitukoff Declares
United States Will Be Called Upon to Help Keep Russia
In War.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Petrograd, via London, May 5.—The provisional government through Premier Lvoff has declined to modify the note sent to the allies and declared that the ministers are prepared to resign their post if necessary.

"It is impossible to send another note. The temporary government will comply with its duty and leave its post rather than take such a step which would menace the country with very serious consequences. The government understands fully the responsibility it has assumed in behalf of the country and in view of that responsibility is ready to resign if it

"The note expresses the view of the temporary government. It has no other aim. The recent note developed the ideas expressed in the first note, which was worked out in conjunction with the council of deputies. The events of yesterday will make the allies very sad while pleasing the Germans," Milukoff said.

In regard to the suggestion of a new note, Milukoff said:

"If we should attempt to do so, we would only reveal our weakness."

The minister made an allusion to a secret telegram received from Ambassador of England, Lord Grey, to the allies. It is significant that Ambassador of England, Lord Grey, and Ambassador of United States, Mr. Wilson, upon the Foreign Secretary, Milukoff concluded his statement.

ment by saying:
Depends on America
 "Respecting our history and means of continuing the war, we are dependent to a great extent upon the allies, especially upon America. It will be an ever lasting blot on our history if there should be a peace-bitterly imposed upon a separate peace, but the council itself has declared against a separate peace."
 M. Tcheldse, president of the council, repeated previous declaration that a materialistic attitude of the government was unacceptable.
 He said:
 "Neither the soldiers nor the workmen are for war."
 He called attention to the fact that there was no material discord, and the only trouble was in respect to Russia's policy.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS SEEK WAR PROFITS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 5.—Another instance, similar to the boosting of food prices, showing that many people are ready to take advantage of war conditions to fatten their pocketbook, came to light today when the state industrial commission advised new paper men that this report is being compiled and that applications for licenses for new private employment agencies. The urgent need for a better distribution of labor suggests to those who hope to obtain employment from employers and employees for bringing them together. The industrial commission has denied all these applications, and taken the more private employment agencies will merely bleed money in the pockets of a few promoters without service to the public. This state is the only one cooperating to the fullest extent in bringing about a proper distribution of labor. In this state, the industrial commission officers, four from employment offices, are at Milwaukee, Superior, Oshkosh and La Crosse. An unusually large number of farm hands have been sent out by these offices this spring. The state has not been worked out for having an agency in each community to help farmers get needed hands. This work will be undertaken in co-operation with county officials. Many offers for state service in helping out in the problem have been received from patriotic citizens who have volunteered for this service will be rendered free of charge to employers and employees.

Game Fishing

Game Fishing

HIS MAJESTY, THE BROOK TROUT.

My Dear Buck:

Without a doubt, oldtimer, I feel like tacking the blue ribbon on the brook trout for being the wisest, liveliest and gamiest of the fresh-water fish. For downright nerve and fight, he is in a class by himself and he carries more tricks in his tail than any other fish. He is truly an American and of a sturdy type that can forage a living in any stream or spring-fed lake that is cool. Although he does not grow as large as his cousin the rainbow trout from the West, or his foreign relative, the brown, or German trout, for his small size and weight he puts up the keenest fight of the trout family.

The trout is a trim-built fish with graceful lines and his constant battle with swift currents makes him a strong, husky youngster. As a general thing he is found in the small flowing streams where the water is cool and fresh, while the rainbow and brown trout can thrive in warmer and deeper streams as well as lakes. As a rule I have found the rainbow and brown trout in the rocky waters below falls, in the swift rapids, and the brook trout in the quieter pools, especially those with grassy beds. The trout is a rapacious feeder, and takes his food from the surface, in midwater and at the bottom; he is, however, mostly a surface feeder and dotes on flies, grasshoppers, insects, worms, small minnows and even small frogs.

Trout Has Keen Sight.

Undoubtedly he has the keenest sight of any fish, and he evidently watches his prey before it strikes the water, as he will close his jaws on a fly the instant it hits the water, often leaping up and catching it on the wing. It's a pretty good guess that he watches the flies or insects as they fly over the water and this same sight makes it necessary for the rod wielder to match his wits against those of Mr. B. Trout.

Trout are caught with artificial flies, grasshoppers, worms, minnows, crickets, grubs and almost any small insects that are found along streams, also with very small spoons. When fishing with a fly it should be kept in motion, imitating as near as possible the movements of a fly that has dropped on the surface and is struggling to rise again. This can be accomplished by a slight broken twitching of the wrist. When a trout takes the fly, strike quickly, but not with a heavy jerk, only a slight move of the wrist is necessary. In taking a fly, he snaps his jaws together over the fly, but is quick to throw out the artificial feathery substitute for a square meal.

Let Depends on Rod Work.

The sport begins with a rush right after you hook your fish and you sure have to work your gray matter, Buck, before you can reel a trout. He seems to know every rift, rooted hold, snag or windfall in the stream, and you got to keep your mind on the game to hold him from reaching cover, which means a lost fish and a snagged line. Let your rod do most of the work, that's what a good fly rod is for—keep your line tight, at no time give any slack, as the trout may not be securely hooked, and a slack line gives him a chance to cough out the fly. You will find the trout is more quickly landed if worked down stream, especially with a large fish, as the current is in your favor. Keep the rod well up and the line shortened, as a short line gives better control over the fish and you need every extra bit of advantage, as the sole object of the trout is to get away and at that game he is some little better.

Fish Both Up and Down Stream.
If you are fishing a slow running stream it is best to fish up stream and on swift-running streams fish down, making it a point to walk around pools and fish them from the lower end up to the head. In fishing up stream the fly comes quickly down with the current, this can be slowed up by casting diagonally up and across.

Trout Gorge Angletworms.
Early in the season the common angletworm is considered a delicacy by the trout and this bait if floated down stream under a shelving bank or around a log, which makes an ideal hiding place for trout, it's a twenty-one shot that another fish will be added to the reel. Hook the worm so that the entire hook is covered, using a No. 6 or 8 snelled hook. Always fish down stream with worms, as the natural action of the current carries the worms down stream. Let the bait float from about thirty feet above the spot where you anticipate the trout are lying and throw in the shut-off on all nois.

DELANE

Delane, May 4.—Miss Marie Conley of Madison will address the Women's Council at their annual meeting in the Armory library Saturday afternoon. Her subject will be "The Vocational Training of Women." The meeting will be held at 2 p. m.

Charlie Conter has accepted a position as manager of a lumber yard at Watford, Wis., and will move to that place today with his family. Miss Ruth Blodgett.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls and their family, who own a summer home at Delane, were here from Chicago the past week.

Mrs. H. E. Beamsley is suffering from an attack of pleurisy. Robert Cheney, father of Mrs. Charles Tenney of this city, died this morning at his home in Elkhorn, after a long siege of suffering from cancer of the stomach.

High school pupils to make arrangements and get an early start to Sharon, where the county contest for oratory will take place. Elizabeth Cahill and Jesse Williamson of this city will take part.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cavaney and Miss Mary Cavaney of Richmond called at the home of James Cullen and family Thursday evening. The high school field meet which was to have been held this afternoon was called off on account of the cold.

So bubbling over with enthusiasm are the boys of the Wisconsin school for the deaf and so eager to get whatever service they can to the government that two of those in the highest classes wrote to the secretary of war. They received a fine acknowledgment from that official, who placed their applications on file that they might be called upon if they were ever needed.

Mrs. Joseph Allen and daughter Josephine are Chicago visitors today. Charles Bean is back to Delane and will occupy Mr. Cotter's house, on South Third street.

Several cases of pink eye have been reported, especially among the small children in and about the city. A few nearby residents attended the much agitated meeting on the future provision for fire protection, held in Darien Thursday night.

Russia Throws Off the Yoke.
(By Paul Holmes.)

RUSSIA THROWS OFF THE YOK.

CHAPTER FIVE.
The Whiskey Smugglers.
L'Verne paused, but an instant, standing there under the shelter of the great wall of Petrograd. There was a mighty task before him that night. He must somehow get the goods about the city and make his way to some lonely railway station where he could board a train. His passport was all right, but he feared to board the train in Petrograd, because the rigid inspection of the papers there would probably have brought forth his message to the capital.

But once away from the grim police of the capital, he had little to fear. But there remained the task of getting out of the city without any authority to do so, and without having passed the required inspection. Outside the wall, he could hear the tramp of feet as the sentries marched by. He was and once or twice a soldier passed near him on the inside of the wall. In the shadow where he stood, he was practically safe for the time, but if he moved, he would be detected in a flash.

And yet, he must move. He could not stand there until the night passed away, certain detection coming with the dawn. He was in a quandary. Rodzianko had said to act on his own impulses, and as he remembered, his own impulses had always been rather successful. He was a gambler. Rodzianko had said to act on his own impulses, and as he remembered, his own impulses had always been rather successful. He was a gambler.

"Back as soon as this. That's good." The words, in perfectly good English, floated to him from the other side of the wall. He had not heard a word of the English language for over a year, and for a moment he was puzzled. But after a moment of thinking, enough of his rather scant knowledge of the language came back to him to enable him to translate them.

But who should anyone be speaking English there, where the established tongue was Russian? Francois was perplexed beyond words. Was one of the guards speaking to him? One thought, however, predominated in his mind above all others. A person who spoke English would probably be a friend and help might be waiting for him on the other side of the wall.

"Yes, I am back. It didn't take long. The four of us settled the two guards, and there wasn't a cry raised. They'll be here right away, and we'll bustle the dope over."

These words too were in English, and to the listening L'Verne, the light of understanding was dawning. The men who were carrying on the conversation were both, probably, cast off adventurers from either England or the United States, and they were engaged in that very profitable business of smuggling liquor into Petrograd.

This smuggling had been going on ever since the Czar's rule, and the time of the opening of the war had made all of Russia dry territory.

But L'Verne was beginning to realize his wonderful good luck. The men had disappeared of the guards, and all that remained for him to do was to wait until they went away, and then to scale the wall. There would be nothing to detain him. Then a shrill whistle sounded, somewhere. He was all attention on the instant. But he could not place the sound, and it was not repeated. Then another shrill whistle came from the guard post.

"Hurry up there, you. Have you got the ladders? Lend a hand there." "Yes, the ladders were put here this afternoon. I can hear the whistles coming now and the whistles. Get ready here, because we must hurry this thing along. I think the guard is getting wise and I wouldn't try this again for a thousand dollars."

There was silence again, but Francois, listening, could hear the sound of a wagon approaching. He heard the curt command of the driver for the horses to halt, and then there was a rattling of the harness as the conveyance came to a stop. A moment later, he heard a rasping sound on the far side of the wall, and then the top of a ladder appeared. Someone was climbing it.

The thought came to Francois that if the smugglers found him here, they might not stop to inquire whether or not he was a government agent. He came to the other side of the wall, but as he came, that shrill whistle was repeated. It rang out clear and cold, and evidently much closer. There was an answering whistle, from another direction.

The truth flashed over the boy in an instant. The police had been on the watch for these smugglers, and now, were drawing them out about now, just as truly as if he belonged to the outlaws. What he had expected to prove a help to him was turning out to be the instrument of his destruction. He would hope for nothing from the police.

Just then a shot rang out, close by him. CHAPTER SIX.
Playing a Lone Hand.

The first of the smugglers had already climbed the wall, and was in the act of letting a ladder down to the ground on the other side. Francois, who had turned with the shot, had an instant's glimpse of the man's form, silhouetted against the sky. When a fine target he must have presented. Then there came a groan, which echoed with the re-echoing of the pistol shot. The form upon the wall slowly slipped down, and a falling body. The whole place was alive now, and men were rushing about everywhere, all clothed in the uniform of the Russian police. L'Verne shrank against the protecting wall, and as he did so, the ladder, which the smuggler had been endeavoring to get to the other side, slipped down, and it fell with a fraction of an inch.

Shots rang out everywhere, most of them fired at random by the excited police. L'Verne was quick to grasp the only chance he had, and he waited he would might be able to prove that he was not a smuggler, they would surely search him, and a search would reveal the secret papers. No, he could not be taken by the police. His only other hope was to cast his lot with the outlaws. He had a fighting chance anyway if he chose that course.

He drew his revolver, and watching cautiously, he picked up the ladder with his other hand, dragging it behind him, as he slowly made his way along the wall. He was able to escape had thrown open one of the big gates, and most of them had flocked out for the wild chase after the smuggler. Some, however, remained, and glared at him from the shadows. He had not gone far before one of them spotted his skulking figure. This man fired as soon as he could see that the form was not that of one of his own men, and a second later the policeman was reeling in his own corner. Francois, unscathed, had instantly sent a retaliatory bullet into the fellow's heart.

Then, putting his now useless revolver in his pocket, L'Verne swung the ladder about, and with some difficulty succeeded in placing it against the wall. He sprang upon it, and commenced ascending as rapidly as he could. Below him, a number of the guard had collected about their fallen comrade, and as soon as they sensed what had happened, they cast all discretion to the winds, and leaped clear to the ground on the other side an instant before.

He alighted with a good deal of force, but he could detect no injury to his feet. It was well that fortune had been kind to him, for his legs were all that saved him at that time. The infuriated policeman, climbing that ladder just as he reached the top of the wall, they commenced to fire into the darkness below them. But L'Verne had made his time and had managed to lose himself in the darkness before they could catch sight of him.

Thoroughly frightened, not for himself, but for the safety of the papers, Francois ran with all his speed, heading in a general direction toward the river, which was nearly a half mile away. The pursuit was not abandoned, but the force of from twenty to thirty men joined in the chase, a small detail remaining to guard the captured smugglers.

However, perhaps, had Francois L'Verne been in greater danger of his life. And as he ran, his pursuers gained at every step, one thought flashed through his mind. If he were caught, and the letter of Rodzianko were read, then not only himself, but also Rodzianko and Usipoff would be found guilty of treason against the government. Rodzianko had earned a death sentence, and the letter of Rodzianko was a probability of its being captured. Now capture was almost certain.

A well directed bullet whistled close by his head. That decided him. He could not take the risk. He put on an extra burst of speed, and then suddenly flung himself to the ground and supplied the equivalent of a year's beef rations for two soldiers, whereas the milk from one cow will supply an equal food value for twenty soldiers in one year, according to the council. Ohio and the nation are urged to prohibit the sale for slaughter of "productive dairy cows," and Ohio farmers will be urged to increase the number of dairy cows.

"Only dairy cow in her lifetime produces the same amount of human food as seventeen slaughtered steers," says a statement sent out by the council.

The firing stopped suddenly, and he heard somebody cry out to take him alive. Grimly the chase for life or death went on. Francois' teeth were set, and his breath was coming in short gasps.

Now in truth was he playing a lone hand. He had nothing to rely on, nothing to prove his identity, nothing whereby he could get an audience with General Brusiloff, providing he escaped from this danger, nothing by which he could even furnish the necessary references for the purchase of a railroad ticket. But even so, the die was cast. He must continue upon his hopeless quest until the end.

LET EVERY PATRIOT SAVE A BOSSY COW

Columbus, O., May 5.—If you wish to class as a patriot, save a cow. That is the advice of the Ohio food council.

Meat of one slaughtered cow will supply the equivalent of a year's beef rations for two soldiers, whereas the milk from one cow will supply an equal food value for twenty soldiers in one year, according to the council. Ohio and the nation are urged to prohibit the sale for slaughter of "productive dairy cows," and Ohio farmers will be urged to increase the number of dairy cows.

BODIES

Studebaker makes more of the parts of its cars than any other manufacturer. It makes its own bodies—and they are made at the South Bend plants—the same care in manufacture, the same honesty in workmanship, quality and material, is placed in the Studebaker body that has been placed for years in every product turned out by the great factories of Studebaker.

The framework is built of the finest quality second growth hard wood; the reinforcements are drop forge steel; the frame work of wood; the steel is submerged in a life-preserving dip of lead paint. The outside of the body is sheet steel, the same gauge as that used in the highest priced cars.

There is nothing "flimsy" about the Studebaker body. It is strong, rigid, substantial, yet exceptionally light, because it is framed on high quality second growth hard wood, and drop forge steel stampings.

It cannot work loose, rattle, split or crack. It is finished with twenty-five hand applied paint and varnish operations—the same process that is used on cars costing from $2,000.00 up.

Its lines are beautiful. It is roomy enough for perfect comfort. It is upholstered in the finest material. The body work of Studebaker cars is famous. Examine either a FOUR or SIX, and you will easily see WHY.

PLANT TESTED SEED SLOGAN TO FARMERS

DEFENSE COUNCIL SENDS OUT CIRCULAR LETTER URGING IMMEDIATE TEST OF SEED CORN.

TO INCREASE YIELDS

Seed of High Germinating Power Means Larger Production Per Acre—Teachers and School Children Aid.

"Test your seed corn now." This is the substance of an appeal to the farmers of Rock county sent out by the County Council of Defense.

In order to insure the planting of seed corn of high germinating power, it is absolutely necessary to make tests, the defense council advises. The strong seed will mean larger production per acre which is of vital importance owing to the demands of war emergencies.

The letter, two thousand copies of which will be sent out, is as follows:

Office of Rock County Council of Defense.

Dear Sir:—

Did you know that the average yield of corn in the United States is twenty-six bushels per acre, due in large part to poor seed corn?

Do you know that the yield in Wisconsin is thirty-five bushels per acre and can be raised even higher by planting better seed? The way to determine seed which will grow is by testing. Have you tested your seed yet?

Dean Russell of the state agricultural college says: "Wisconsin cannot afford to plant an ear of corn this spring which has not been tested and found to be good strong seed."

Only a few days are left before planting, every boy and girl on the farm and the rural teacher should be kept busy helping to test seed corn.

If you want help in testing your corn or information regarding the test, call on your rural teacher or the County Council of Defense.

Yours truly,
Frank P. Starr, Recording Sec.
Rock County Council of Defense.

Orders for seed potatoes continued to pour in from all sections of the county yesterday and today with the prospect that an extra carload will be ordered from the state council for Rock County.

Mr. Starr is anxious to correct the erroneous statement that the variety of potatoes which will be furnished are early maturing. The rural New Yorkers, recognized as the best of the main crop varieties, will be the kind sent here for distribution.

The Fourth Ward Midgets managed to slip one over on the Third Ward Tigers defeating them by a score of 10 to 5.

The overwhelming score they did. The worthy batters for the Midgets were Gullen, Clark and Kanning. The Tiger batters were Inman and Lawson.

MANY TICKETS SOLD FOR MILITARY BALL

One Man Sells 150 Tickets for Ball Given by Company M to Raise Money for Company Fund.

If the advance sale of tickets for the Military Ball to be given on Wednesday evening at Assembly Hall by Company M of the First Infantry Regiment for the benefit of their company fund, can be taken as an indication of the event, the party will be one of the most successful social functions held in Janesville in some time. Already the ticket sale has passed the expectations of the men in charge of the affair, and it is likely that the company will net a sum which will be of substantial aid in providing for the many necessary comforts for which the men have to depend on this extra money.

One member of the company has sold over one hundred and fifty tickets and others report almost as much success. The men are coming reports of similar enthusiasm on the part of the people to provide for the Edgerton men who have enlisted.

Through there are over one hundred and fifty men enrolled in the local company, Captain Caldwell is still recruiting men, designated as untrained recruits. At present there are a number of applications out and enlistments are looked for as soon as the men have passed the physical examinations given by Dr. F. W. Brown, the examining physician for the company.

Despite the February-like temperature last night the men were high in the air, and the streets, before a fair sized crowd of spectators. Steady improvement in the facility with which the company goes through the more difficult parts of the drill, which will probably be followed by one of the most popular dances which have become so popular.

The rookies will drill on Monday evening and on the following night the older men will hold their regular drill, which will probably be followed by one of the most popular dances which have become so popular.

CHEER UP!

CLEAN-UP DAYS, MAY 7th and 8th

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

To the Citizens of Janesville:
The time has arrived when we should get busy with our "annual clean up" duties. During the coming week each citizen should clean up his premises, his house from basement to attic as well as his yard, areaway, or barn should be carefully inspected and remove or destroy all rubbish and waste. In going over your premises you may find not merely rubbish, but also paint rags, oily rags and waste, defective stove and furnace pipes, cracked and unclean chimneys, gasoline and other oils carelessly stored. All these are fire hazards and should receive attention NOW. The reasons for this "cleaning up" are plain. Rubbish breeds fire and conflagrations. It also breeds disease germs, and flies, to carry these germs. From these unclean conditions emanate many of the causes of sickness and suffering and possible death. We want a clean, beautiful and healthful city, free from fire dangers and epidemic sickness. Therefore, I designate and proclaim, Monday and Tuesday, May 7th and 8th, to be the "Clean Up and Fire Prevention Days" for this city. Let each of us do our share and perform our duty in making these in reality A Regular Clean Up Time.
JAS. A. FATHERS, Mayor.

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

June Caprice recently celebrated the first anniversary of her entrance into pictures. A year ago William Fox boasted that he would take this unknown little seventeen-year-old Massachusetts girl and make her a world-famous star in one year. He has succeeded.

"I just laughed when Mr. Fox told me of his intention to transform me into a great, electric light attraction," said June the other day. She has just finished her eighth production, "A Small Town Girl," which is to be released this month. The seven that have already been released have made quite an impression. Little June hasn't reached the top rung of the ladder yet, but it's clear she wasn't justified in laughing at Mr. Fox because he thought she had it in her to be a very successful movie actress.

CHAPLIN TALK MILLION

Sid Chaplin, brother of the illustrious Charles, is in New York for the purpose of considering a number of propositions for Charlie's services next year. He is reported in receipt of three different offers for eight pictures to be made in a year at figures in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Charlie, however, is reported anxious to make his own productions in future, beginning with a big feature that will make a full-length entertainment.

Olga Petrova, affects a string of beads and an intense look in her next film, "Undying Flame," in which she is cast as the daughter of Pharaoh.

Chances are the stage will have to suffer through another season, with the magnetic personality and nimble limbs of Mrs. Vernon Castle. It has been announced that she entered into a long term contract to continue in the movies. She will divide her future work between serials and features.

MARY MILES IN VAUDEVILLE?

Mary Miles Minter is in a terrible state of indecision. She likes the know what to do. She likes the movies and the stage, and she's free to sign where she pleases. Keith's vaudeville agency has made her an offer, so have promoters of an all-star revival of "Roméo and Juliet." And then there are the insistent movie magnates. Oh, dear! This film life is terrible!

MYERS THEATRE.

For the first time in this city, George V. Hobart's modern corality comedy, "Experience," called by the critics the most wonderful play in America, is announced for a one night engagement at the Myers theatre, Thursday, May 10. Wherever "Experience" has been presented it has made a remarkable success. It broke all records for attendance during the run of nine months in New York, five months in Boston, seven months in Chicago and five months in Philadelphia. In San Francisco it repeated the history of its success in the east and comes here direct from the record San Francisco engagement. The play has the very emphatic approval of the clergy of all creeds and denominations. "Experience" Mr. Hobart takes the universal experience of mankind, the struggles, the sins, the temptations, the elements of everybody's life and makes it a play of intense reality. He has poured the exhilarating fluid, the critics say, of every day happenings into the vessels of everybody's understanding, and by so doing, the critics add, he has brought home with singular effectiveness the story of the adventures of the average young man when he leaves home and goes into the great world to make a name and place for himself.

The episodes through which Youth passes in his efforts to solve the riddle of life are just the sort of things that have really happened to most of us, and for this reason nearly everyone may see themselves in "Experience." The play has been a pretentious stage with pictures and spectacular effectiveness by William Elliott, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, the producers, and they will send to the city the famous New York more can organization with a cast of eighty-two notable players. In the Golden Cabaret scene there is a large light opera chorus and the newest songs are sung and the latest dances seen.

In the cast of well known players will be Conrad Nagel, Louise Gerard, Maude Furness, Edwin Elton, Fenton, Peggy Ford, Duncan Penwarden and Little Leslie.

"FLORA BELLA" AT THE MYERS. "Flora Bella," queen of the season's musical offerings, will be the attraction at the Myers theatre tomorrow evening, May 6. John Cort sends the attraction here with a specially brilliant cast and a record of five months at the Casino theatre, New York. Charming music, bright lines, an original book and love that's glow, clever principals, lively dancing and Urban settings—for what more can one ask? The story of "Flora Bella" concerns the young Princess Manja Demidoff, who leads a Quakerish existence in the country, cultivating the homely virtues and past as a famous cabaret artist of Petrograd. Her red-blooded husband, Prince Nicholas Demidoff, chafes under the monotony of a quiet life. Then comes the discovery of a photograph of the princess as a dancer which leads to the revelation that it is Flora Bella, a twin sister. The prince is fascinated by the picture and quietly steals away to meet his supposed sister-in-law at the Sign of the Golden Calf. The princess at the same time is induced to return to the home of her former triumph, just for one night, that she may help place the one time manager in his position. Nicholas makes violent love to the dancer who continues the char-

EXPERIENCE

Written by George V. Hobart

ENDORSED BY SOME OF THE BIGGEST MEN OF THIS DAY AND GENERATION, INCLUDING THE UNITED CLERGY OF THREE GREAT CITIES—NEW YORK, BOSTON AND CHICAGO

IN NEW YORK: Rev. Theo. Gregory, famous clergyman, said: "If I were a rich man, I'd buy 'Experience' and see that it was given in every city and town of our beloved country."

IN BOSTON: Rev. James Sheering said: "You will go forth into the world a better man or woman, after you have seen this wonderful performance of 'Experience.' Everyone should see it."

IN CHICAGO: Rev. Philip Yarrow said: "If every man and woman inclined to go to the devil, would see 'Experience' and then accept the power of Christ to save, this would be a happier world today."

(PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.)

HELPFUL HINTS.

Remember that chains are needed in summer as well as in winter. A heavy rain will soon make the streets and roads dangerous. Some people carry one chain on the rear wheels, but it is better to have one on each wheel. It is best to use four and have one in reserve.

Every ignition wire should have a permanent solder at each end. This insures a firm contact and prevents wires breaking off and so gradually shortening. If recurrent breaks of this kind occur, it is better to use a single strand of wire touching another metal part of the engine. This prevents the storage battery.

An emergency trick for oiling a spring is to go over it with kerosene. This will keep the spring from rusting and will also keep the oil from getting on the sides of the spring. It will run in between the leaves, and the oil will keep the leaves from sticking together. This is a very good way to oil a spring. It is best to use kerosene. It is better to use kerosene than oil. It is best to use kerosene.

When coasting down a long hill, change from the drive to another to allow them to cool. Unfortunately this does not cool the brake drums. So use the hand brake as a brake and go down very steep hills against compression. Leave the gears in the high speed, or, if you must stop, stop the engine and let the wheels stop the motor at the same time.

Occasionally the interrupter becomes loose, and it is important that the beginner should learn to see it. This is because of the fact that the engine will not start when cracked, but will only start when the interrupter is replaced. When an engine has been running properly, and the above trouble suddenly develops, inspect the interrupter immediately.

different. The bronze washer on the right hand side will not run but about two months before it grinds completely up, thereby making a terrible grinding noise and causing the engine to stop. It is a very common trouble. It is best to use a bronze washer. It is better to use a bronze washer than a steel washer. It is best to use a bronze washer.

As you have apparently tried everything else, the only thing left seems to be the differential case or cage. This may be out of true on that side. Try installing a new one, inspecting the bearings at the same time. If this fails a whole new rear axle would seem to be the only remedy.

Motorist Department. The Gazette.—My car (Dodge 1913) has large tires, 37 x 4 1/2. Car weighs about 3,500 pounds. I am figuring on having the wheels cut down, so that I can use 34 or 35 inch tires, which, of course, are much less expensive. I have a car that looks better and runs better, but I would like to know now is whether the smaller tires will carry the weight of the car just as well as the large tires. Also, I am of the opinion that the smaller tires won't last as long as the large tires. The big tires in a given distance. Consequently, I will wear quicker and the car will be really no saved by using smaller tires. Am I right? Please advise. E. B. Vance.

It has been settled conclusively that large tires are less expensive to run than small tires. This is because of the larger supporting surface. That is, why oversize tires are made and used. It would seem that the advantage of a smaller tire, in your case, would more than offset any increased cost, which could not be very great.

Motorist Department. The Gazette.—I would like to help you in your Motorist's Help issue as soon as possible. I put in high gear if it is going up grade out of circuit, but a thief seldom carries the parts mentioned.

Motorist Department. The Gazette.—I have a 1913 Paige and would like to know the proper way for timing magnets. As it is a low tension with a coil, could a high tension magnet be used on this type of car and for do you wire it? The magnets are splitdorf. The pump is plunger type. Would it be strong enough to pump the oil to a light feed on foot board near clutch pedal. Thank you in advance for information.

A high tension magnet can be placed in the same position as your present magnet. The distributor would be wired up exactly as it is now. One wire would run from the magnet to the switch on dash and another wire to the distributor. This should only be done by an experienced repair man. There seems to be no objection to placing light when you mention.

When in doubt take your car to a good garage.

The building is located in the middle of a frame row and a fire originating there would be sure to entail great loss to adjoining property.

Every Savage mileage maker gets full credit for good work because all work is "keyed" to the serial numbers on the tires. We know in every case just who is responsible for "Heap big mileage."

This plan creates a strong sense of personal responsibility and pride among our workmen, and there is keenest rivalry to see who can produce most mileage per tire.

You can help us to produce even greater mileage for you if you will send us full details of all Savages that run over 7000 miles.

Please be sure to give Serial Number, size of tire, date of purchase, name of dealer, and actual number of miles run.

SAXON "SIX"

Announcing the Chummy Roadster

Here is the newest Saxon model—a racy roadster of the sporting type built to accommodate four passengers. Especially is it an admirable car for the small family.

In design and body lines it has a particularly attractive distinctiveness of appearance that is in pleasing contrast to the present body styles prevailing among roadsters.

An aisle runs between the front seats, affording easy access to the ample rear seat for two.

This Chummy Roadster has the same splendid motor as the Saxon "Six" Touring car model—a specially built Saxon design, six-cylinder Continental motor.

Vibration and friction have been reduced to a nearly negligible point. So that your power-flow is silent, smooth, and flexible whether you are idling easily "on high" at a mile and a half per hour or "speeding" at fifty.

Beyond the added advantage of smoother pulling power at all speeds, of faster acceleration and greater flexibility that this refined motor possesses it also has the further feature of greater endurance and stamina gained through the reduction of vibration and friction.

So while you get a finer performer in Chummy Roadster you also get a longer-lived car—and naturally a less expensive car to maintain.

This new model is now on our showroom floor. In view of the quick favor this car has earned, it would be wise to see it at once. You may save delay in getting yours if you save time now in seeing it. Price $865 f. o. b. Detroit.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fourteen, but have for my age and people take me for fifteen or sixteen.

(1) Do you think it is proper for me to write letters to you?

(2) Do you think I am old enough to go to church with him at night?

(3) Do you think it is proper for him to go to church with me every night?

(4) He says he loves me and I am sure I love him. Do you think it is true love?

(5) Do you think he is too young to be talking about marriage?

(6) What will remove freckles?

People say I would have a real nice complexion, if it were not for my freckles.

(7) No, it is not proper.

(8) You are not old enough.

(9) You are too young to enter into a love affair.

(10) If the boy drops in to see you the way he used to when you were youngsters, it is all right to let him come. You should not let him talk about love as you see him does.

(11) Your love will not last, because both of you are too young to care for each other seriously, although you may think you do.

(12) Yes, he is too young. You will be so much happier later, girls, if you will put aside all thoughts of love for a few years.

(13) The boy who makes you think about it, play with girls and take an interest in your school work. If you neglect your studies now you will find yourself commonplace and uninteresting when you have reached an age that you really should be attractive to boys.

(14) A harmless preparation is made from two ounces of lemon juice, one-half dram of powdered borax, and one dram of white sugar. Mix them, and let them stand a few days in a glass-stoppered bottle till the liquor is fit for use; then rub it on the hands and face occasionally.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty years old and I have been going with a boy a year and a half. He says that he loves me and I love him too at first, but I don't even like him any more, and I want to stop going with him, but I don't know what to say. This boy used to take me to shows and parties, but he doesn't anymore. He just comes and calls and brings me flowers, and dates way ahead of time and then I am tied up so that when other boys ask me to do something I have to refuse. What would you do if you were in my place? I don't want to hurt his feelings because I am sure he cares for me.

BETTY.

Boys rarely consider a girl's feelings when they want to stop going with her, but girls almost always consider the boy. Of course you want to make the boy see that he is not the only one who is in love with you and that you are not as easily won as you were once.

Let him come only once a week after this, and later you can give him even less time. He will probably feel that you no longer care for him and will stop of his own accord.

I have heard boys say that there are so few girls who are interesting talkers, that they don't want to take the few who are to theaters and places where they cannot talk. The boys insist that they pay out girl's high compliments, but calling and not wanting to go anywhere, I have never known a girl yet who liked that kind of a compliment. A boy once told me that he had been with a girl for three times he is with her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of sixteen and I have a very bad skin. I have a lot of pimples and I want to know what I can do for it.

MRS. T.

(1) The patient who attends regularly and through out the illness; (2) Open air day and night the year around; (3) All the sunlight available or endurable; (4) (5) Wholemeal food in reasonable variety; (6) Graded exercise, under strict regulation by the doctor, according to the conditions in each case; (7) Occupation which gives peace of mind.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Old Forty-Niner

Is a child 3 1/2 years of age too young to have tonsils and adenoids removed? Our doctor thinks it is either that or worms that cause her starting up and screaming as though choking, in her sleep. She breathes through her mouth at night, and her tonsils are swollen. Will much appreciate your advice. (Mrs. F. O. T.)

ANSWER: Until the doctor can make a diagnosis whether it is adenoids hypertrophy or worms, it is a little too soon to operate. But really, you give no reason for the doctor's being suspected at all. Children with nasal obstruction from any cause (adenoids, enlarged tonsils or chronic rhinitis) are likely to have just such a habit.

Glad to Accommodate: Would it be asking too much of you to name something good to eat to move hair from the temples? Is something safe and non-irritating. (Miss S. H. L.)

ANSWER: Glad to do so. The very best agent I highly recommend is a safety razor. It will accomplish without irritation everything that depilatory preparations could be expected to accomplish, and it is perfectly safe.

The Tuberculosis Bugaboo: Would it be dangerous to purchase anything from a store formerly owned by a man who died with tuberculosis? (Mrs. D. R.)

ANSWER: Not at all. The danger died with the man.

Household Hints

HOMINY. Take one cup of fine hominy to three cups of water, one teaspoon of salt, and one of sugar. Boil for two hours. Longer cooking does not hurt it. This quantity is enough for a family of four, for, for supper, with butter instead of potato, and leaves plenty to mold as you would corn meal mush to fry for breakfast.

The course hominy looks like cracked, white corn, and should be soaked several hours in cold water before cooking. Cook until it boils, stirring now and then, before putting over the outer part of double boiler. Add teaspoon of salt when nearly done. This is also very nice fried, but will mold. You can add water to this up to it cooking as it swells a good deal. Just cover it with water to cook.

Hominy grits (the fine hominy) is also delicious cut in blocks, dipped in beaten egg, rolled in bread crumbs, and fried in deep fat.

Baked Pickles: The fish has been dressed and washed good rub inside and out with salt. Make a dressing of two cups crackers or bread crumbs, one tablespoon minced onion, salt, pepper, half teaspoon celery seed (chopped celery will do), and piece of butter size of egg; moisten with boiling water. Fry in greased dressing and cover up with greased butter and flour and spread all over fish. Bake fifteen minutes to the pound.

Spinach With Tomato Sauce: Rub through sieve one-half can tomatoes; cook with one tablespoon butter and small slice of onion. Add spinach and season with butter. Butter cups, fill with spinach and fill a hole in center of each with tomato sauce. Garnish with slices of hard-boiled eggs.

Tuna Fish Salad: This salad is very dainty and expensive, and will feed four persons. Empty contents of can on individual plates, on each of which has been placed a lettuce leaf, then cover with sweet pickles and hard-boiled eggs, and cover all with mayonnaise dressing.

Cold Water Pie: Two cups water and one cup sugar (granulated). Put in stove, boil, then thicken with cornstarch. Remove from fire and when partly cool add teaspoon vanilla and beaten yolk of egg. Bake in crust baked for pie. This is a cheap pie but very good.

Chocolate Pie: Bake crusts for two pies. Then put in stew pan two cups granulated sugar, two cups flour, mix thoroughly, add beaten yolk of two eggs, half teaspoon vanilla and one and one-half minutes. Stirring constantly so it will not stick. Use the whites of eggs beaten with one tablespoon powdered sugar for the meringue and brown in oven.

Coffee Cake: One cup lard, one cup cold coffee, two cups brown sugar, one cup baking powder, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, soda, two teaspoons baking powder, flour to make a rather stiff batter.

Coffee Spice Cake (a good but cheap cake for breakfast): large cup sugar, two tablespoons shortening, cream together. Add one pint weak coffee, pinch of salt, two cups flour with one teaspoon of soda sifted with it, half teaspoon of cinnamon, cloves, allspice and nutmeg. A teaspoon of cocoa adds to the flavor. Bake as a loaf cake.

Sugarless, Butterless, Eggless Cake: Fill a cup one-fourth full of lard or any commercial shortening, add one teaspoon salt, half teaspoon each of ginger and cinnamon, add one teaspoon soda. Fill cup with boiling water. Empty this mixture into a bowl containing one cup molasses, and sift in two cups flour. Bake in quick oven.

Johnnycake: One cup corn meal, one teaspoon flour, one-half cup sugar, one cup milk, one-half cup lard, two eggs, two teaspoons baking powder.

VARSITY EXPECTS TO TOUR TO CAN: Madison, May 5.—Wisconsin's women are preparing to put up the big crops farmers are going to raise. The home economics department of the College of Agriculture is receiving scores of inquiries on methods of canning and preserving fruits and vegetables. Instructors of the department will tour the state in July and August.

The Outdoor Girl: Protects the skin and complexion from all weather conditions. Soothes itching and healing after exposure. Relieves sunburn, tan and rough or chapped skins. Try it today.

A "Por trait."

"Well, anyway, she's always good company," defended Molly.

"Is that the best you can say of her," said the Author-Man's Wife.

"I think it's a lot," said Molly, hotly.

"It seems to me more like damning with praise," said the Author-Man's Wife.

"I'm with Molly. Not because she's right, but because I think she's right."

"Being good company" hasn't a very heroic sound, but neither has the habit of looking on the bright side, yet you know how highly Stevenson places that latter gift.

She is Ready for Anything: I am thinking of a woman who has to a rare degree that gift of being good company. Let me describe her to you so that you will know just what I mean by the phrase.

In the first place, she is one of those people who is always ready to be a headcase or some work that she planned to do and will not put off; nor does she think that she will get too tired. She is a person of abounding health which is to be sure, more her good fortune than her virtue (at least we so rank it nowadays, perhaps we shall think differently).

She Has The Great Gift Of Mirth: If you have no church home or are a stranger, we invite you to worship and work with us.

Two Hours of Freezing Takes the Joy Out of Aunt Laura's Arrival for Douglas.

Douglas walked up and down the station platform in a biting wind, shivering and waiting for the train to come. The street that lay in his face when he neared the end of his walk stung like needles.

"No, I can't," snapped the incarcerated one.

"I am expecting an old lady on the next train, and want to know if I shall have to stay here all night."

Douglas was angry in his turn. "You should be able to furnish some sort of information about it."

"You know as much about it as I do. It may be in tonight and it may not," answered the rasping voice.

"Where is the train now, stalled somewhere?"

"I couldn't say."

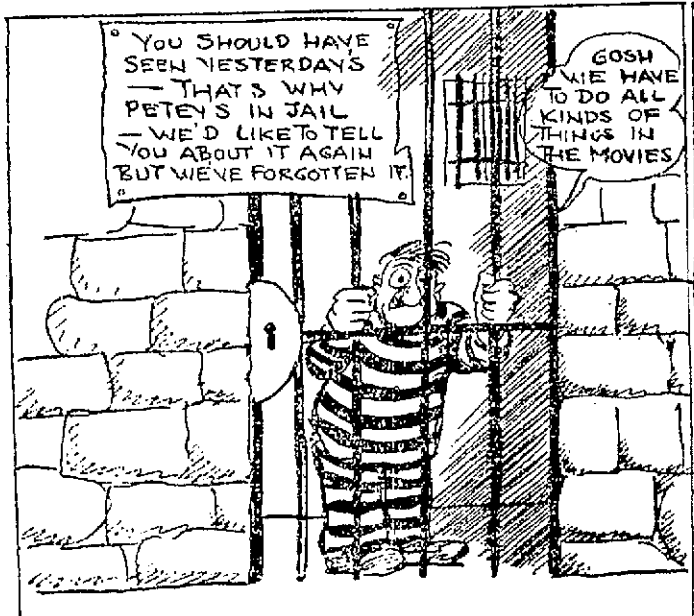

Douglas was too angry to remain longer in the stifling atmosphere of the waiting room. He again braved the bitter wind of the platform.

"I'll telephone to Eleanor," he decided. "I shall not know what to make of her long absence." He had taken the receiver down when his eye fell on the clock. "Twenty-five minutes after one," it said. "She must be asleep now. I will not wake her."

Back and forth, up and down he marched in the shrieking gale, running to cover to thaw out when it blew necessary, he returning again to the open as being the least of the two evils. Half an hour had passed.

"No, I can't," snapped the incarcerated one.

"I am expecting an old lady on the next train, and want to know if I shall have to stay here all night."

FIRST FRAY SUNDAY; LOCAL TEAM IS SET TO BATTLE CHAMPS

Janesville and Fort Atkinson Clash at Fort Tomorrow in Opening Game of Central State League.

Organized baseball for Janesville opens tomorrow when Manager Willis Cole of Milton and his collection of players invade Fort Atkinson to meet the Fort Rebels in the initial game of the Central State League. Boosting Cole and his aggregation will be a good sized delegation of Janesville fans, who will travel overland in automobiles and on the railway to witness the game.

Every indication points to a strong and fast team representing the Bowers City this year. The infield is made up of a group of players who have been in the game for several years playing semi-pro ball with many of the fastest teams in the state. Thompson, Schroyer and Kingston of East Troy are going neck and neck for the shortstop position, with Thompson starting tomorrow, as Kingston is ill. Lacey and Goodman of East Troy will play first and second, respectively. "Blondy" Joe Ryan holds down the third sack, and from reports of what the Janesville lad has been doing over in the state league, he will be hitting considerable about Dabugue's circuit. "Blondy" played with teams of the intra-state league all last season and has been in demand by two other managers aside from Cole.

George Puck of Whitewater will open the mound work for Janesville and Becho will start for the Rebels. Grant of Richmond will be on the Janesville receiving end, while Hornick will catch for Fort Atkinson.

Local players expect no trouble from Becho, and according to the opinion of a group discussing probabilities of the game the Rebel is being to be chased from the box before two innings are over.

Should Puck fare badly—the chances are against it—Manager Cole has Chamberlain, George Butler and Bill Nehr, who are in the game, to send in at a moment's notice. It is the plan to give each of the boys a tryout, and providing they withstand the strain, they will be placed on the team roster.

WOLVERINES RETURN PLEASING TO YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 5.—Fielding H. Yost, the famous builder of football teams at the University of Michigan, is highly gratified with the action of the board of regents in voting to return to the western conference. He believes the faculty representatives of the "Big Nine" institutions will warmly welcome the action of Michigan when they meet in Chicago June 9 to pass upon the application.

Yost strongly favors competition in all branches of athletics with western teams, for he says "it is neither desirable nor practicable for Michigan to be half east and half west." He declares that it has not been possible to arrange satisfactory baseball conference schedules outside of the conference.

"I am strongly in favor of Michigan's return," Yost said. "I want to return absolutely and completely. My chief reason for a resumption of athletics with the conference institutions are: 'That practically all of the men at Michigan always have wanted to compete with western college teams. That from all reports we can look forward to friendly and continuous relations with all the conference teams, including Chicago and Wisconsin, and that there will be a more general and sympathetic interest on the campus

GRIP HARD, SWING HARDER AND HOPE IS PING'S RECIPE

If you have an ambition to attain fame almost as great and as lasting as that of a president of the United States all that is necessary is to outguess the pitcher, grab your bat like it was your last dime, and swing with all your might. Then hope and hope again.

That's Ping Bodie's recipe for busting the fences in any league where he may happen to be playing. Inasmuch as it has brought him back to the American league and a chance at more fame is a big league outfielder, there must be some truth in it.

Ping says swing hard the first time, go into second speed on the second, and then if you've got to do it again, turn on all the gas, jam down the accelerator and SWING!

Ping cracked out twenty home runs while amassing a batting average of something over .300 last year on the Pacific coast. He already has started his terrible bat working on rivals of the Philadelphia Athletics, and his work has given the Mack pupils some respect this year.

"It's all in the way you grab your bat and swing," said Ping. "The pitcher who can throw harder than I can swing isn't being found. If you miss for the first two whacks again, and you've got to take Old Man Confidence to the plate with you."

"You gotta think you're going to make the fences rattle, or you're done for. Watch the pitcher, outguess him, and you've only gotta hang onto your bat like grim death and swing your head off to set a new ground record."

That was the advice he passed out a year ago when he was telling Bobby Jones how to make good for a Tiger.

"How do you hunt?" Bobby wanted to know.

"How do I hunt?—search me. I never tried it." Ping responded after a period of grave reflection.

Matly is developing two young pitchers, Sanders and Ring. The latter is a New York boy who received a trial from the Yankees last year.

Below is published a coupon which any farmer desiring help on his farm can fill out and mail or leave at the Gazette Office and it will be forwarded to Chicago where the persons seeking work will be put in direct touch with the employer.

LONDON POOR EATING U. S. BREAKFAST FOOD

London, May 5.—Mrs. David Lloyd George, wife of the British premier, has changed "Paddy's Goose" for years London's most notorious public house, into England's first communal "War Kitchen." Mrs. Page, wife of the American ambassador, participated in the opening ceremony and received a warm reception when she introduced the East End poor to American cereals for the first time.

"Lyceum" another ill-famed English "pub" on Miles End Road, has also been opened to the poor, and a third, "The Crown" where 17,000 hot dinners are served out daily, is in full swing.

Although intended to relieve the food shortage and suffering resulting among the East End poor, England's communal "war kitchens" are by no means charitable institutions.

"From the very beginning," Mrs. Lloyd George said, "we have sought

Grell, Johnson Creek, second vice president; Will Kispert, Jefferson, treasurer, and E. W. Waite, Jefferson, secretary. Farmers and merchants of the county are solidly behind the campaign and its success seems assured.

S. HUTCHINSON & SONS
Paint Store. "Over 56 Years of Knowing How." E. Milw. St.

A shaky dining table spoils many a spotless table cloth.

If there is any thing that should be solid and substantial, it is the dinner.

The table that weaves and trembles at every touch, like the aspen leaf, should be consigned to the wood shed and returned to the kitchen a la kindling wood.

We have a fine line of diners of differing woods, styles and prices, built for solidity, and you will enjoy the meals served upon them.

HOMES OF CHARACTER No. 1008 JOHN HENRY NEWSON CO. ARCHITECTS

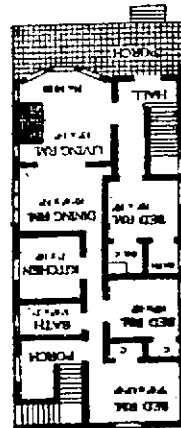

An "Up and Down" Duplex House--Fine Investment

This building has been designed especially to meet the needs of the man who desires a good investment on which large returns are certain while the total outlay is moderate. It can be built in frame for between $4500 and $5000. The first and second floors are duplicates. On each there is a well arranged five-room apartment with abundant light and plenty of porch space. There is also a bachelor suite with private bath and wall bed. The third floor ceiling is sufficiently high to permit of finishing an apartment, thus giving three large flats and two single suites under one roof. The building is 22x60 feet, hence can be located upon any 30-foot lot.

This duplex will make a comfortable home and a profitable renting proposition.

Get in touch now with Mr. Newson. He'll willingly answer all questions. Always give the number of the "Home of Character" you're interested in and address "John Henry Newson, Homes of Character Department, The Gazette."

TECTONIUS SILOS The Best Silo at the Price of the Cheapest.

There is no question about a Silo being the best thing to help make the farm pay. You will bring up the question, naturally, as to what Silo is the best. Of course, you want the best Silo.

The TECTONIUS is a wood silo and everyone knows that wood makes the best silage. In addition to the advantage of being made of wood, it is wind and storm proof.

The TECTONIUS is positively as tight and as strong as a concrete, brick or tile silo. We make this statement unreservedly because it applies at all times, in all seasons, and in all weathers. Sounds incredible but it's true just the same.

TECTONIUS' original, exclusive, Self-Adjusting Silo Door and Hoop Fasteners make all this possible.

If you are interested in a Silo just step into our office soon and let us tell you all about it, or if you are busy just send us a postal card and we'll send you a lot of interesting facts about the TECTONIUS silo. SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY PRICE, $135 for a 10x24 silo. (Price subject to change without notice).
